Intelligent Transportation Society of Georgia Announces New Officers and Directors for 2005

Shahram Malek of Iteris, Inc. named President

ATLANTA (October 4, 2004) – The Intelligent Transportation Society of Georgia (ITS Georgia) today announced the election of Officers and Directors for 2005. The newly elected officers and directors were introduced at ITS Georgia’s annual meeting.

Shahram Malek of Iteris, Inc. was elected president and board member, Marvin Woodward of the Georgia Regional Transportation Authority was elected vice-president and board member and Bobbie Sanghvi of StreetSmarts was elected secretary and board member.

Billy Bachman of Geostats, John Funny of Grice and Associates and David Spinney of the Georgia Department of Transportation (GDOT) were elected as new members of the board of directors.

The new directors join existing board members Dr. John Leonard, immediate past president, Georgia Tech; Susie Dunn, treasurer, Atlanta Regional Commission; Marwan Abboud, ARCADIS; Carla Holmes and Anthony Bradford, GDOT; Neil Poling, MARTA; Bayne Smith and Joe Stapleton, URS Corporation; and, Marion Waters, Gresham Smith and Partners.

“I look forward to serving as president of ITS Georgia in the coming year and advancing intelligent transportation technology as a major component in solving Georgia’s highway congestion problems,” said Mr. Malek. “On behalf of ITS Georgia, I also want to thank Immediate Past President Dr. John Leonard for doing so much to strengthen the organization and increase awareness of the benefits of ITS in Georgia.”
